I. CONTINUITY IN THE DANCING BODY AND SPACE

11. - 12. 2. 2023

10:00-17:00

SVČ Lužánky, Brno

In this weekend workshop, the focus will be especially on making specific dance materials and finding ways how to develop it further. We will hunt the golden thread of our dance expression – the continuity. Through a sensitive bodywork we will facilitate the availability of the legs in order to practice both their alertness and strength while listening to their eloquence. We will also reawaken the rootedness of the legs deep into the torso reminding us of the core power, inner voice and deep “gut” imaginativeness.

The compositional skillfulness will be triggered through exploring our personal tendencies of relating to dance colleagues and to space while inviting new ways of communicating while dancing. We may ask: How am I relating to other dancers while speaking through my dance to the audience?

This February workshop is a base for the following “THE LISTENING BODY” workshop in March which will be dedicated to the musicality of our dances - working with sound, music and live musicians. At the end of the March workshop, you will have a possibility to participate in the public sharing performing with live musicians. Participation in the “Continuity in the dancing body and space” workshop is a highly recommended prerequisite for this presentation.*
